Happy Holidays!

You are probably wondering if we have our 'happy face fun email' this year 😊. We thought about it but we have so many new faces on the team. In fact, not only do we have new faces in the JAGGAER US headquarters but we now have entire new teams in our operations started in Europe over the past few months. We now have teams in Serbia, Italy and the UK to better serve our European customers. So this year, we have group pictures to show you the faces behind all the emails that you see from various team members from our global operations – please click here to view.

Whether a new or an old hand, whichever location we might be in, we all wish you a wonderful year ahead and will do the best we can for your continued success in 2019.

Holiday Hours:

Please note that JAGGAER will be closed December 24-26, 2018 and January 1, 2019.

Have You Tried the SampleSQCustomer Site?

The SampleSQCustomer site has been set up so that you, our suppliers, can have a firsthand experience of how the buyers in the JAGGAER Procurement Applications search/view your hosted catalog content as well as any punchouts that you might have. You can find login details at the beginning of this newsletter, in the Catalog Summary section. As you work on refreshing your catalog content in preparation for 2019, the SampleSQCustomer site will help you view up to 100 of your catalog products. Here are top three things to keep in mind;

- Do try the new search UI. You will find a 'Choose your experience' button in lower right corner that will let you toggle between classic and new search experience. Customers decide when to switch over to the new experience which covers not only product search but also the shopping cart
- This site has been made available to all of our suppliers. So, if you have ability to view your catalog products – whether from hosted catalog or punchout – be sure that they have demo price value of 9.99 and NOT your live pricing
- Even if you do not have any hosted/punchout enablements being a Science Catalog, you still can see how a buyer uses the JAGGAER Procurement Applications which will help you maintain proper catalog content
