Supplier News - April 2021

21.1 Product Release is Now Available

The 21.1 Product Release is now available in your JAGGAER Supplier Portal, made effective on 11th April. Here are few highlights of changes / new features in this Release:

- Two new Product Attributes, “EAN” and “Food Contact”, added for the hosted catalog
- New Order Delivery Method will now be available - “Email with PDF Attachment”
- Visibility of products with promotional pricing is now improved in search results

To view details about these features, along with all other changes being made as part of this Release, please refer to the Supplier Release Notes by clicking here.

Better Visibility of Products with Promotional Price

With the 21.1 Product Release, available as of 11th April, we have improved visibility of the products with promotional pricing. Promotional pricing can be loaded by indicating the date when it will be activated, and the date when it should automatically expire, when creating a price submission. It is automatically activated and does not need any action by the customer admin. When such products are available in search results, they will be highlighted for buyers with an icon and let buyers readily see the promotion details. Note that this enhancement is being implemented only in the new search experience and not in the classic search experience. We are in the process of upgrading all our customers to the new search experience.

To see an example, please log into the SampleSQLCustomer organization (login credentials have been provided in the email message) and search for “PromotionalProductExamples”. In the search results, hover over the ‘sale’ icon in upper left to see the details of the promotional price, including the discount and when the promotion is set to expire.

As per the existing functionality, once the promotion expires, the pricing goes back to the price set that was effective before the promotional pricing started.
